He proclaimed himself a Republican and a protectionist, whereat the negroes in the saliery applauded generously. He made a local reference to the closing of the Monticello Slate Pencil Factory in this county, which he credited to the Wison bill, when, in fact, it suspended operations a year ago under the McKinley law, and resumed after the passage of the Wison measure.

Major Turner, in his rejoinder, made some telling points that provoked great enthusiasm among his hearers, and answered effectively the speech of his opponent.

Word was immediately brought to this city, and a force put to work removing the dead and injured to this city. The dead are all boys ranging in age from thirteen to twenty-one, and some appear to be of respectable families. "There is no reason to fear otherwise," said Mr. Martin. "Virginia is one of the safest of the Democratic States, and, with her natural Democratic States, and doubtful in some districts we are having a hard fight, but that is just what was needed to bring out the full Democratic vote. There was and is some inertia among our people, and here and there you would find a disappointed offhesecker who was somewhat sore and disgruntled, but under the vigorous methods now being used in the campaign the apathy is fast disappearing, and the average disappointed office-seeker is a good Democrat at heart, and will be found in line on election day. I enquired particularly as to the attitude of the railroads in the coming fight, and was assured by Secretary Gardiner that up to this time there had been no manifestations of hostility from either of them. The Baltimore and Ohio has always been very friendly to Mr. Wilson in the past, and there is no reason to believe that its course will be changed in the coming fight. The Davis corporation has not yet shown its hand, but the business interests of the district are so diversified that, in the opinion of the Democratic managers, a combination between this road and the coal interests would not be regarded with great apprehension. Wilson and others from the second edition of the campaign hand-book is wholly unitage as a copy of the laie edition just received this morning from the hands of the printer shows. HELD UP THE TRAIS.

PHOENIX, ARIZ., Oct. 1.—At 12:15 A. M. the east-bound Southern Pacific train was held up one and a half miles east of Maricopa by three masked men. One of the robbers rode on the blind baggage out of Maricopa, while the other two flagged the train. As it slacked up the fellow aboard passed quickly into the engine, and, at the point of two revolvers, forced Engineer Holloway and Fireman Martin to descend, uncouple the engine, and proceed ahead of the train for a half or three-quarters of a mile. In the meantime one of the masked robbers had entered the express car, while the others stood outside. No shots were fired, nor were the passengers warned while the robberty was in progress. The engineer and freman were walked ahead of the robber to the express car, where they arrived about the time the other two were ready to depart. All three then mounted horses, which were tied near by, and struck out in a southerly direction, toward the Mexican line, which is fifty miles from the track. The amount which the Wells-Fargo messenger reports as having been captured is $160.

The robbers were overtaken eighteen miles east of Phoenix by the sheriff's posse. A fight ensued, in which one of the robbers was a filed another captured and the third escaped.

It is evident that matters are rapidly reaching a climax. in sight. Commencing with the criminals, Secretary Lawrence Gardiner was at his desk at Democratic headquarters this morning, having just returned from a personal visit to Grafton, W. Va. The object of Secretary Gardiner's visit was not to gain further insight into the political situation, in Mr. Wilson's district, as the committee is theroughly informed of the condition of affairs there, and is not the least apprehensive of the result in November.

Colorel McGraw, who is the chairman of the congressional committee of the Second district of West Virginia, who has taken personal charge of Mr. Wilson's campaign, is one of the shrewdest and most active politicians in the country, and is said to be an organizer from weyback. He has the entire confidence of the Lemocrate managers here, who are well content to allow him to arrange the details for the great battle this fall, which will make the second West Virginia the most conspicuous congressional district in the country, and a full conference with Colonel McGraw, at which the details of the triumphant reception to be tendered Mr. Wilson on his return from his tour in search of feath, were discussed.

Of course, the political situation was gone over in a practical business-like manner, and Mr. Gardiner returned to his rost well satisfied with the ootlook in West Virginia.
